Creating Relevant Industry-led Ecosystems

BPC's Marketplace helps create ecosystems to unlock new market segments and profits

Small businesses, crucial for a thriving economy, often struggle with their limited access to the financial support and products that drive business growth and expansion. Particularly in emerging markets, where cash is still king (along with alternative payment options), small business isn't seen as a profitable market segment.

BPC's Marketplace is designed to boost business transactional speed and financial inclusion for SMEs, making it easier for small businesses to gain access to an unlimited market, automated logistic services, clear and standard rules, get unsecured lines of credit, backed by lenders including traditional financial institutions, microfinance institutions, government, and P2P lenders or investors.

Delivering a safe, transparent environment for transactions

Sellers and buyers can be verified to have access to a full list of services. Credit checks can be performed instantly, and the digital payment system offers a safe transaction environment.

How it works...

- The Marketplace can be integrated with a wealth of additional services to create a true end-to-end trading and supply chain platform.
- Financial institutions are connected with every part of the ecosystem like payment facilities, logistic services, insurance, scoring, and loan providers.
- Time consuming tasks like dispute management and cancellations are automated with immediate, rules-based credit back and goods return for a smooth cooperation.
- All order and payment options can be done on the same platform.
